If applicable to Supplier in Boost's sole discretion Boost may elect to not pass through to Supplier the higher standard interchange rates levied on Supplier's transactions by a Payment Network pending a determination as to whether Supplier qualifies for lower Payment Network Commercial Enhanced Data Program (or similar interchange fee program) ("CEDP") pricing.

If it is determined that Supplier does not qualify for CEDP rates, Supplier will owe to Boost, and Boost is authorized to recoup from Supplier, an amount equal to the difference between the uncollected higher standard interchange rates applicable to, and previously levied on, Supplier transactions and the lower CEDP rates collected by Boost. Boost will recoup any applicable amount from the Supplier by deducting such amount from amounts due to Supplier or debiting such amount from Supplier's depository account.
